

Phrasal verbs

- Jump at

When he was offered a job he jumped at the chance.

- Live on

We cannot live on such a small income.

- Pay out

I will pay you out for this harm.

- Pay up

Unless you pay up I will not give you more.

- Point out

He pointed out some mistakes in my essay.

- Ring off

He rang off before I could ask his name.

- Round up

After the riots the police rounded up all suspects.

- Rub up

You must work hard to rub up your English.

Phrasal verbs

- Pin down

It is difficult to pin down the exact causes of this tragedy.

- Play up

When the visitors come children start playing up.

- Press on

Don't be discouraged press on and hope for the best.

- Pull round

The patient will soon pull round.

- Sink in

I could not sink in what he had said.

- Sit out

Some players sat out of the match.

- Slip up

In a hurry I must have slipped up some where.

- Stick at

When he has to stick up with some strangers there.

Phrasal verbs

- To be sent down

He was sent down from the university and never got a degree.

- Step up

This news machine will step up production.

- Burst in

He burst interrupted our discussion.

- Bring in

The army brought him in for disorderly behavior.

- Brush up

You had better brush up your English.

- Clear off

Clear off and leave me alone.

- Cry off

He promised to help me but now he has cried off.

- Hand out

Please help me to hand out these pamphlets.

Phrasal verbs

- Hold back

You should not hold back such useful information.

- Head off

He always heads off awkward questions about his past.

- Iron out

Let us iron out our differences of opinion.

- Knock off

Workers here usefully knock off at six o'clock.

- Let off

I will let you off this time but do not do it.

- Leave up to

I will leave up to the expectation of my parents.

- Mess around

Get on with your work and stop messing around.

- Pass out

She passed out because of the heat and stuffy atmosphere.