

Direct Indirect speech

Direct Speech

I said, "You cannot use my cycle."

He said, "I eat apples."

He said, "I do not eat apple."

He said, "I am eating apples."

He said, "I ate apples."

He said, "I will/ shall be in Paris on Monday."

He said, "I shall be 21 tomorrow."

I said, "I shall be eating meat tomorrow."

I said, "I shall have eaten meat tomorrow."

I said, "I shall have drinking water since morning."

Indirect speech

I told that he could not use his cycle.

He said that he ate apples.

He said that he did not eat apples

He said that he was eating apples.

He said that he had eaten apples.

He said that he would be in Paris on Monday.

He said that he would be 21 the following day.

I said that I would be eating meat next day.

I said that I would have eaten or should have eaten meat next day.

I said that I would have been or should have been drinking water the next day.

Direct Indirect speech

Direct Speech

He said, "I saw her a day before yesterday."

He said, "I will do it tomorrow."

She said, "My father died a year ago."

At the station, he said, "I shall be here again tomorrow."

She said, "You can sit here, Saleem."

He said, "Come here, boys."

He says to me, "I am your friend."

I shall say, "You can help me."

You will say to me, "I have already gone to Lahore."

We say to her, "You know him."

Indirect speech

He said that he had seen her two days before.

He said that he would do it the next day.

She said that her father had died a year before/previous year.

He said that he would be there again the next day.

She told Saleem that he could sit beside her.

He called the boys.

He tells me that he is my friend.

I shall say that you can help me.

You will tell me that you have already gone to Lahore.

We tell her that she knows him.

Direct Indirect speech

Direct Speech

I shall say to him, "You were eating apples."

He says, "We might go to Karachi."

She says, "We had already seen this film."

He said to me, "I am ill."

I said, "I live in a good house."

She said, "I do not like boiled eggs."

I said to him, "I am playing cricket these days."

I said to him, "I have done my duty."

She said, "I was sick since yesterday."

The teacher said to the boys, "We cleaned the room a day ago."

Indirect speech

I shall tell him that he was eating apples.

He says that they might go to Karachi.

She says that they had already seen that him.

He told me that he was ill.

I said that I lived in a good house.

She said that she did not like boiled eggs.

I told him that I was playing cricket these days.

I told him that I had done my duty.

She said that she had been sick since previous day.

The teacher told the boys that they had cleaned the room a day before.

Direct Indirect speech

Direct Speech

I said to him, "I did not feel happy today."

She said, "I had already cooked food for you."

The doctor said, "I had been treating the patient for ten years."

The teacher said, "Each moves round the sun."

He said to me, "I shall go to college tomorrow."

He said to me, "It will be raining tomorrow."

The Mother said to me, "I shall have done my duty."

He said to me, "I shall have been doing my work."

Indirect speech

I told him that I had not felt happy that day.

She said that she had already cooked for him.

The doctor said that he had been treating the patient for ten years.

The teacher said that earth moves round the sun.

He told me that he would go to college the next day.

He told me that she it would be raining the next day.

The mother told me that she would have done her duty.

He told me that he would have been doing his work.

Direct Indirect speech

Direct Speech

He said to us, "you are a good boy."

I said to her, "You are a clever girl."

We said to them, "you are making a noise."

I said to him, "You are not working hard."

I said to him, "I will help you."

He says to me, "I can kill you."

I say to her, "I shall see you tomorrow."

He said to me, "I am your brother."

We said to her, "Your English is very weak."

I said to him, "Your book has been stolen."

Indirect speech

He told to us that we were good boy.

I told to her that she was a clever girl.

We told them that they were making a noise.

I told him that he was not working hard.

I told him that I would help him.

He tells me that he can kill me.

I tell her that I shall see her tomorrow.

He told me that he was my brother.

We told her that her English was very weak.

I told him that his book had been stolen.